Director's Notes

More than twenty-five years ago, I was on the tech crew when my high school staged The Dining Room. Since then, it has been one of the regulars in my mind when considering plays I wanted to work on. It stayed with me so strongly over all these years that I jumped at the opportunity to bring it to the Methacton High School Theatre Company this year.

From a strictly logistical perspective, it was the perfect play to bring live theatre back to MHS. Each individual scene is performed with only a couple of people and the scenes interweave beautifully together. It gave us the chance to call small group rehearsals and work around the unknowns of what this first full year back in the building would bring. From a character perspective, with so many various personalities, I knew there would be something for everyone.

To say the students exceeded my wildest expectations would be a huge understatement. They have given such heart and charisma to these scenes, it takes my breath away. I am consistently blown away by the depth and talent of our students in the Methacton High School Theatre Company and am beyond grateful that I have been given the opportunity to work with each and every one of them.

I hope you are all as happy as I am, finally getting to see The Dining Room come to life in front of you. Congratulations to our entire cast and crew on a job well done. As our illustrious host says, "To all of us!"
